

A Solitary Triumph

a piacere $\text{♩} = 66$

Oh, the pro-gress of Wo-man has real-ly been vast since

5 Ci - vi - li - za - tion be - gan. She's u - surped all the qua - li - ties which in the past were

9 reck - oned pe - cu - liar to Man. She can

13 score with a bat, use a rod or a cue; her ten - nis and golf are sub - lime. Her aim with a gun is sur - pri - sing - ly true, but Man beats her hol - low at 20

17

crime. ...at crime. The 24

strings to her bow are both va - ried and quaint; there are maids who can work with the 27

pen, there are maids who can han - dle the pa - lette and paint with a skill that's not gi-ven to men. There are 34

30

mp

la - dies that preach, la - dy doc - tors there are, M - Ps will be la - dies in time, and la - dies, I hear, prac - tice now at the Bar -- but 40

37

Man holds the re - cord, yes, Man holds the re - cord for crime.

43

So it's hey for the jem- my, and hey for the drill, and hurrah for the ske - le - ton keys. Oh, to bur - gle a house or to 50

46

rif - le a till! I am more than her e - qual at these. She may beat me at home, she may beat me a - field; in her way I ad - mit she is 56

53

prime. _____ But one palm at least I com - pel her to yield: _____

59

_____ Yield! _____

62

_____ I can give her a les-son in crime. _____

66

...in _____ crime. _____