

Rudkin

Kenneth Herbert Ashley (1887-1950?)

Gary Bachlund

Allegretto

coarsely

Rud-

7

- kin was one who cat-tle sold, laughed loud, talked bold;

12

Chil - dren got, drank at inns, nor thought much of his sins.

17

Stout his legs, broad his back; to live and thrive he had the knack.

23

Rud-kin. All who went out, all who came in, by Threck-ing-ton, knew ff mf

28

stout Rud - kin. Long he's been dead; his name has gone clean out of mind at mp

34

Threck-ing-ton; If one should ask for Rud-kin there the vil-lage folk would stare and stare. Rud-kin is dead; dead as Queen Anne: Rud - kin...

39

p

Meno mosso rit.

45

Hangs on my wall his warm-ing-pan; (...dead as Queen Anne:)

pp

Tempo primo

50

In_

f pesante

56

__ hall hard by, __ so-lemn and clear, ticks the tall clock he used to hear; __

mf

61

Lit - tle Miss Wright, all un-a-ware, reads her pa-per in his chair. __

v.

66

Down by the bridge the pa-ra-pet is still chipped where his wain* up-set;

* a large, heavy farm vehicle

72

Rud-kin. By the old barn there's an old pear when he was wed he plan-ted there. His dro-ver's dog was ver-y like our but-cher's cur: a

77

83

mon-grel tyke; He had a bull with a crook-ed horn, a hei-fer like it I

88

rit.

saw this morn. Down at "The George" in mar-ket - place There's a bold

94

Tempo primo

wench wears his bold face. Rud-kin. ...to live and thrive

100

Più mosso

he had the knack. Rud - kin.

molto accel.

106

laughed loud, talked bold; Rud - kin.

circa 4' 30"

28 XI 2018
James Island

